Every line below is pre-recorded in the Big Bad Wolf's voice. During play the game chooses a line based on what is actually happening — the visible symbols, the size of a win, win/loss streaks, whether you are in the bonus, how long you have sat idle, and so on. The wolf never talks over himself, respects cooldowns so he is lively rather than annoying, and lets the big moments interrupt idle chatter.

Responsible play

No line promises a win, says a win is "due", or pressures the player to keep betting. Cold-streak lines are gentle and infrequent.

How to read this: each heading is a situation that makes the wolf talk, followed by every line he might say in that situation (one is picked at random, avoiding recent repeats).
